

Week 9: Disobedience I

JSS1 Christian Religious Studies (CRS) — First Term Lesson Note (Deep-Dive Edition)

Introduction

Having studied creation and marriage, this week turns to one of the most significant events in the Bible — the disobedience of Adam and Eve, which changed the course of human history.

Meaning of Disobedience

Disobedience means refusing to follow or obey instructions, commands, or rules given by someone in authority — in this case, God's direct command to Adam and Eve.

Adam and Eve's Disobedience (Genesis 3:1-19)

Event	Description
The serpent's temptation	The serpent, described as more crafty than any other creature, questioned and twisted God's command to Eve
God's original command	God had told Adam not to eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, or he would die (Genesis 2:16-17)
Eve is deceived	The serpent convinced Eve that eating the fruit would not lead to death, but would make her “like God”
Eve and Adam eat the fruit	Eve ate the fruit and gave some to Adam, who also ate it
Their eyes were opened	They immediately realized their nakedness and felt shame, and hid from God
God confronts them	God questioned Adam and Eve, who both attempted to shift blame for their actions

Real-Life Application

Just as Adam and Eve were tempted to disobey a clear instruction, students today face similar situations — being tempted to break school rules, disobey parents, or ignore good advice. This story teaches the importance of resisting temptation and remaining obedient to rightful authority.
