

TOPIC 4: QUR'ANIC RECITATION – SURATUL FAJR (Q89:1–30)

1. Introduction

Suratul Fajr (The Dawn) is a Makkan Surah with 30 verses. It opens with oaths by the dawn, the ten nights, the even and the odd, and the night when it passes, and then addresses the fate of past nations and the nature of the human soul.

2. Key Themes

- Oaths by natural phenomena as signs of Allah's power.
- Destruction of arrogant nations: 'Ad, Thamud and Fir'awn (Pharaoh) who transgressed and spread corruption.
- Man's tendency to be ungrateful: when blessed he is proud; when restricted he complains.
- Neglect of the orphan, not encouraging feeding of the poor, consuming inheritance wrongfully, loving wealth excessively.
- On that Day Hell will be brought forth; the regret of those who did not prepare.
- The peaceful soul (al-nafs al-mutma'innah) is invited to return to its Lord, well-pleased and well-pleasing, and enter among His servants and enter His Paradise.

3. Moral Messages – Patience and Obedience

- Avoid arrogance and corruption; learn from the fate of past nations.
- Be grateful in ease and patient in hardship.
- Care for orphans and the poor; be just with inheritance.
- Do not let love of wealth distract from obedience to Allah.
- Strive to be a soul at peace that returns to Allah content.

4. Summary

Suratul Fajr warns against arrogance and injustice, urges care for the vulnerable, and holds out the hope of Paradise for the peaceful, obedient soul.
