

TOPIC 8: MARKETING OF ARTWORKS

1. Sources of Funding for Art Business

Personal savings, family support, small loans, grants or competitions, partnerships and income from earlier sales. Start small and reinvest profits where possible.

2. Outlets for Marketing Art Products

Galleries, craft centres, markets, schools and cultural events, online platforms, social media, commissions and private clients.

3. Ways of Marketing Art Products

Exhibitions; business cards and portfolios; social media and websites; word of mouth; collaboration with other creatives; participation in fairs and school shows.

4. Pricing of Artworks

Consider cost of materials, time and skill, size and uniqueness, market demand and comparable works. Price fairly so that the work is valued but still accessible to the intended buyers. Keep simple records of costs and sales.

5. Summary

Marketing art involves funding, choosing outlets, promoting work and pricing sensibly. Professional habits help turn creative skill into sustainable income.
