

JSS 3 NIGERIAN HISTORY – FIRST TERM

TOPIC 1: NIGERIA IN THE 21ST CENTURY

1. Political Developments

Since 1999 Nigeria has run a civilian democratic system under the 1999 Constitution. There have been successive elections, changes of government, and ongoing debates about federalism, security and reform. Political life includes multi-party competition, civil society activity and challenges such as electoral disputes and regional tensions.

2. Economic Developments

The economy remains heavily dependent on oil, with efforts to diversify into agriculture, services and technology. Issues include unemployment (especially youth), inflation, infrastructure gaps and the need for sustainable growth. Digital and informal sectors have expanded.

3. Social Developments

Population growth, urbanisation, expansion of education and media, and cultural change characterise social life. Challenges include poverty, inequality, access to quality healthcare and education, and social media's impact on youth and public debate.

4. Summary

21st-century Nigeria is defined by democracy, oil-dependent but diversifying economy, and rapid social change. Progress and problems exist side by side.
